The Scottsdale Public Art Board generally approves Art in Private Development projects in three stages:
Stage 1--------Preliminary public art plan/schematic design
Stage 2--------Final art plan/design
Stage 3--------Certification

Compliance notes
  1- The Final art plan (Stage 2) must be approved by the Scottsdale Public Art Board before a building permit can be issued.

  2- Certification (Stage 3) must be completed before a Certificate of Occupancy or other final approval can be given.
Description of Stages 1-3:

Stage 1--------Preliminary Public Art Plan/Schematic Design
This stage of the art plan should be undertaken concurrently with seeking planning approval. The applicant develops the preliminary public art plan in consultation with Public Art staff to ensure that the intent of the plan is consistent with the requirements of the ordinance. The preliminary plan must be submitted to Public Art staff, with a copy to the Project Coordinator prior to the Development Review Board consideration of the project. Public Art staff shall provide a written recommendation regarding the preliminary public art plan for inclusion in the staff report for DRB.

Stage 2--------Final Art Plan/Design
The applicant must present the final comprehensive public art plan and design to the Scottsdale Public Art Board as noted below, and copies provided to the Project Coordinator. This presentation must occur after DRB approval of the project and before the Project Applicant’s submission of final construction drawings.

Within 10 days following the meeting of the Scottsdale Public Art Board, the applicant shall be notified in writing of the Board’s decision. Public Art staff shall also provide written notification to the City Planning Department of the Project Applicant’s compliance with the ordinance.

The applicant must also submit a final estimate of its public art commitment as calculated according to Section 5.3083C, which shall be validated by the One Stop Shop. The Project Applicant may opt to pay this amount to the Downtown Cultural Trust in lieu of installing original artwork on the site. Funds from the Downtown Cultural Trust are used for the accession of artwork to be located in public spaces.

Calculating the Public Art Commitment
The public art obligation is based upon a minimum one percent of building valuation subject to certain restrictions. The calculation of building valuation shall not include square footage associated with public improvements, nor residential uses other than hotel or hospitals as defined in Section 3.100. Cost per square foot shall be taken from the most recent publication of the International Conference of Building Officials. The derivation of the estimate and the date of the ICBO publication shall be noted on the submittal.

Stage 3--------Certification
The Project Applicant must certify that the requirements for installing artwork according to Section 5.3083 have been met (or that an in-lieu fee deposited) before the City shall issue a Final Certificate of Occupancy.
